

Sirius Range Hoods Partners with Oakton Distributors, Inc.

Buffalo, NY - Sirius Range Hoods, a leading supplier of superior quality Italian range hoods, recently announced a partnership with Oakton Distributors, Inc., an award-winning distributor of over 54 years of service to quality kitchen and bath products manufacturers since 1953.

Showcasing the finest kitchen appliances available to meet the demands of professional chefs and discriminating consumers alike, Oakton is now able to offer the Sirius collection of innovative kitchen ventilation products to their dealers.

"For over ten years, Sirius has been a leader in Europe's kitchen ventilation industry," said Jamie Crain, Vice President Sales, Sirius Range Hoods. "Our commitment to advanced technology and craftsmanship is matched by the overall excellence and support of our Distributors. We are therefore delighted to have partnered with Oakton and look forward to extending the Sirius brand with such a highly regarded company".

"The culmination of this joint venture is akin to a reunion between Oakton's founder Marvin Friedman and Bruno Canavari, President of Sirius Italy, whose long standing relationship spans some 18 years, prior to the creation of Sirius", added Crain.

Effective 15 January 2007, Oakton will assume complete responsibility for sales and service of Sirius Range Hoods in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and North and South Dakota. The corporate office in Des Plaines features a state-of-the art showroom, complete with an Amphitheater that includes a live kitchen.

For complete information on the Sirius Collection of high performance Wall-Mounted, Island-Style, Built-In or Professional Series kitchen ventilation products, please visit www.siriushoods.com, or call toll free 866.528.4987. ◆