Another Unique Kitchen Hood by Sirius

Buffalo, New York, January 2007 – Always at the forefront of the design world, Italian designers at Sirius Italy have created a range hood that is not merely functional but beautiful.

The Sirius SU207 range hood adds visual bite to your kitchen, delivering a sleek presence to a minimalist cooking workstation. Completely fashioned out of superior brushed stainless steel, the professional look of the SU207 hood is an enduring investment for your kitchen.

Easy installation of the 16” wide seamless welded hood allows the chimney to reach a height of 45” to suit diverse ceiling elevations. Remote control operation of the 4-speed, 600cfm blower boasts power that quickly and quietly removes smoke, steam and contaminants from the cooktop and at only 3.9 sones on maximum blower setting, is whisper quiet!

As with all Sirius hoods, the SU207 can be re-circulated – particularly suitable for kitchens where outside ducting is not an option. A 50w halogen lamp brightly illuminates the cooktop for a safe (and aesthetically pleasing) cooking area, whilst easy removal and cleaning of the dishwasher safe aluminum filters ensures that this hood can take the heat!
